Outcome of Programme on Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities

The programme on Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities inculcated a sense of environment awareness and civil responsibility into the participating postgraduate commerce students. During and through activities such as planting trees and preparing posters on topics such as "Save Energy, Save Water," student participants actively confronted issues related to sustainability and demonstrated their commitment to social causes. The initiative created opportunities for teamwork, creative expression, and justifiable concern for the environment---for while this is a social concern, eco concerns, too, arise from the practical application of institutional values. Thus, the programme successfully promoted environment-conscious behaviour and further enhanced the students' understanding of how value-orientation plays a role in creating a responsible society.
