Description of the Event: Peer teaching is an innovative teaching process where a student is given an opportunity to act as a teacher involved in explaining academic concepts to fellow students. Such active learning benefits the peer teacher by reinforcing their mastery of subject matter while the learners develop a far deeper understanding. It develops skills like communication, leadership, and fellowship. The exercise is carried out under faculty-guided supervision to keep students involved in academics, complementing NEP's learner-centric leaning, and bringing forth an academic atmosphere that is inclusive.
