The main objective behind organizing the programme was to develop the academic and professional capabilities of the faculty members through knowledge sharing and academic discourse. The programme began with a welcome address by a senior faculty member of the department who emphasized the importance of continuing professional development within the higher education system. The session centered on the evolving pedagogical practices, curriculum development, and application of technology in the teaching-learning process. There were altogether 15 teachers from all different departments who took an active part in the FDP. The interactive nature of the session brought about a platform for the exchanging of ideas on academic issues and also for exploring the new teaching methods.
